

Methodist Church South.

The following missionary intelligence gives some idea of the extent of the efforts of this denomination to spread the gospel. The laborers, in behalf of the negro population, furnish an instructive commentary on the slanders and assaults upon the institution, and from which our northern neighbors should learn to judge us less harshly.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has a promising China mission, supported at considerable expense.

They have also ten missions among the Germans; seven missionaries, 332 members, and 133 Sabbath school scholars.

In their Indian work they have 31 missions, 22,578 white members; 1,922 colored members; and 3,089 Sunday school scholars.

There are twenty missions in California, thus forming a conference. The following is the annual contributions from 1846 to the year 1852 inclusive:

1846.....	$68,529
1847.....	73,797
1848.....	62,613
1849.....	65,494
1850.....	85,673
1851.....	113,801
1852.....	120,000

From the foregoing it will be seen that the contributions, in the space of seven years, have nearly doubled.

In the destitute portions of the regular work, there are 136 missions; 106 missionaries; 22,578 white members; 1,922 colored members; and 3,089 Sunday school scholars.

There are among the colored people in the South 120 missions, 111 missionaries, 33,788 colored members, 700 white members, and 16,385 children and adults receiving religious catechetical instruction on the great principles of the Christian religion.

More missionaries are much wanted.—Respecting the Pon Pon mission in South Carolina, Rev. W. C. Kirkland says: "The owners, and particularly the patrons of the mission, are generally religious, and they esteem it a part of their religion to afford their people the means of religious instruction. They have their cripple and infirm sent to the church. I have never known Christian owners more zealous in this good cause. I find, among our patrons, Col. L. Morus and C. Baring Esq., who were the pioneers in this work, and whose zeal has not abated by time."

Rev. W. H. Crenshaw, of Baton Rouge, La., writes that he found Baptists and Methodists among the slaves, who were brought from the more northern slave States many years since, who cling to their old churches, and have made good progress in disseminating their doctrines among the Creole or Catholic negroes.—He gives, too, a very lively description of a negro marriage, which was accompanied by great display in the house of the owner, and a large expenditure. Mr. Crenshaw then concludes: "The Sabbath morning after the wedding, I had a very large audience of blacks, and our meeting was a happy one. The whites attended with their slaves, and all are apparently interested."

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE.—We learn from the Savannah Morning News that quite a painful sensation was produced in that city on Tuesday afternoon by the startling report that a young Physician by the name of Joseph M. Boggs had committed suicide in his room at Mrs. Platt's Boarding House on Pulaski Square.

He was first discovered between three and four o'clock in the afternoon, lying on the floor of his sleeping room, by his office boy, who immediately gave the alarm. Dr. Bird being sent for was among the first who entered the room, where he found the deceased lying in a very composed attitude on his back, his head resting upon a pillow which he had placed on the back of a chair turned down for the purpose. On the floor, by his side, were a tumbler and an empty phial which had contained prussic acid, and to his breast, over which his hands were studiously composed, was the following note, written in a free bold hand:

"I have taken half an ounce of Prussic Acid. You can prove it by going to Lincoln's, or formerly Turner & Co's."

JOS. M. BOGGS.

August 24th, 1852, half past 1 o'clock.

The verdict of the Coroner's inquest was in accordance with the above facts. Dr. Boggs was, the News believes, a native of this State, and had resided in Savannah several years.—Charleston Courier

BREAKING JAIL.—We learn from the Marion Star that the place was broken on Saturday night, 21st inst., and two white prisoners, Freeman and Daniels, escaped through a hole in the wall, made by removing the bricks that underlay the window sill. Freeman was in prison under a peace warrant, and Daniels under sentence for manslaughter. They let themselves down from the third story by blankets tied together. One of them must have had a fall, as the blanket rope was found broken on the following morning.

rumor has it, says the Cheraw Gazette of Tuesday, that a rencontre occurred at Wadesboro N. C., on Sunday morning, between M. J. Pickett, Esq., and Mr. Boyd, in which the former received two pistol shots in the abdomen, which it is thought, will prove fatal. We have not the particulars, which we suppose can only be elicited by a judicial investigation. Mr. Boyd surrendered himself up to the officers of the law, and is, it is said, in jail.

ELLEN CRAFT THE FUGITIVE SLAVE.—The Macon Messenger of Wednesday says: "We understand that the celebrated Ellen Craft, the Fugitive Slave, belonging to Dr. Collins of this city, who excited so much interest in Boston, two years ago, and who had the honor to be conducted through the Crystal Palace at London, during the Great Fair, upon the arm of the Chairman of the Executive Committee, who slighted many fair representatives of the Caucasian race, to pay his debts to this interesting chamber-maid, has voluntarily gone into the service of an American gentleman and lady, upon condition that they will bring her back to her owner here."

It should be universally known—for it is strictly true—that indigestion is the parent of a large proportion of the fatal diseases. Dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera morbus, liver complaint, and many other diseases enumerated in the city inspector's weekly catalogue of deaths, are generated by indigestion alone. Think of that dyspepsia! think of it all who suffer from disordered stomachs, and if you are willing to be guided by advice, founded upon experience, resort at once (don't delay a day) to Hoodland's German Bitters prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, which, as an alternative, curative, and invigorant stands alone and unapproached. General report, 120 Arch street. We have tried these Bitters, and know that they are excellent for the diseases specified above.—Philadelphia City Item.
